

Your Donations At Work

Dear Friend,

Exciting things are happening across the country as Christians United for Israel continues to experience rapid growth, and we owe our success to faithful supporters like you who have given so much to bless Israel. Thank you for standing with us as we stand with Israel. Your commitment, prayers, and financial support have enabled us to become the nation's largest pro-Israel organization and help shape the conversation about Israel in churches, college campuses, the media, and the political arena.

As CUFI has grown rapidly in the last year, adding nearly one million members since last July, the world has also changed and quickly grown darker. A disturbing rise in anti-Semitism across the globe endangers not just Israel but our Jewish friends everywhere. It has infected our own country to a shocking degree, as we've seen with the students at Portland State University who were willing to donate to Hamas for terrorism against Israeli civilians. The BDS movement at several US universities, led by Students for Justice in Palestine, has begun posting "eviction notices" in dorm rooms informing Jewish students they have three days to gather their things and leave.

In June, Tel Aviv and Orlando experienced the horror of deadly terror attacks only four days apart. Israelis mourned our losses as deeply as their own and showed their support for Americans with ceremonies honoring the victims. We were reminded that we share a common enemy, but also reminded that Americans and Israelis have no more loyal friends than each other. More than any other two nations on earth, Israel and America share the same heart and our people are united in faith and courage.

With that in mind, CUFI continues to focus on the future and broadening the base of Israel's support in our country. At the end of June we were excited to host a special series of events in New Jersey with Rev. Shawn Hyland, culminating in a Night to Honor Israel and the largest single outreach to the Christian and Jewish community in the history of CUFI. Our Diversity Outreach team also had a groundbreaking month. In the last several weeks, we held our first meeting with the Panamanian Christian community in Brooklyn. We also hosted our first meetings with the Asian Christian community in San Francisco, and with the pastors and leaders of African American churches in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Our influence and reach to new audiences through social media is also growing. CUFI's National Diversity Outreach Coordinator, Pastor Dumasani Washington, filmed a video for Prager University entitled "Why are there still Palestinian Refugees?" His video has been viewed more than 2 million times on various websites. We are excited to use these tools to expand CUFI's position as a leader in the pro-Israel movement.

Although it is summer, CUFI on Campus is still in high gear. Our campus coordinators are hard at work preparing for next semester's events and meeting with pastors and community leaders to recruit new students. Our BDS Task Force Coordinator recently attended the UN Ambassadors Against BDS conference where she networked and developed allies with lawyers and organizations who will help us continue to fight boycotts, divestment, and sanctions on our college campuses. We are bringing more than 500 students to the Washington DC Summit, and in August over 30 of our most promising campus leaders will go to Israel as part of our Bonhoeffer Fellowship Program. Momentum is building in our CUFI on Campus efforts as we secure the next generation of Christian support for Israel.

As we gather in DC on July 18th and 19th for CUFI's 11th Annual Washington DC Summit, we hope you'll be there to lend your voice as we call on our nation's leaders to stand firmly and proudly with the State of Israel. And we hope you'll be with us on the day after the Summit, when we get right back to work making sure the evil forces of anti-Semitism and anti-Zionism in our country and around the world are defeated. As the world gets darker, we must be the light. Your generous support for Israel and for Christians United for Israel is deeply appreciated.

Blessings to you and those you love,
